MASSAGE COMBS

Since ancient times, combs made of wood are considered the most useful for hair health. Firstly, the tree will give the curls shine, and secondly, it will protect them from electrification. But the most important plus is that the wooden comb smoothly glides over the scalp and hair without confusing them, so it does not damage the strands and does not provoke the appearance of split ends.

Wood does not have any chemical effect on the hair and scalp and does not contain toxic substances. This is very important if you have a sensitive scalp.

Various teeth made of wood, stainless steel or high-quality plastic with massage balls provide an ideal massage of the scalp, increasing blood circulation, stimulating the growth of strong and healthy hair. Curls become healthy and elastic, and this is without expensive care products.
